Summary

Voiceover isn't as simple as reading words on a page. As a trained and experienced songwriter/vocal musician, I will season your script with just the right mix of musicality, rhythm, tempo and volume to communicate the message as you intend, honoring your story to convey your ideas effectively. After years of recording my own songs, I know how to run studio equipment and recording software, as well as how to edit recordings to deliver a broadcast quality product. As no stranger to the stage or camera, with 20+ years of performance experience, my confident delivery will captivate consumers of your message with conviction.
